The mattress Gaia with an internal Soya Waterlily slab is at the highest levels of sleep.

THE MATTRESS

Gaia with an internal Soya Waterlily slab is at the highest levels of sleep. It is water foamed with raw materials derived from renewable resources such as soya and a mix of essential oils of medicinal herbs. It is specifically designed to aid sleep. It is the most innovative product on the market, the only one that combines breathability, comfort, durability and elasticity of Waterlily with the benefits of essential oils and raw materials from soya. The quality and reliability of a great brand, associated with totally natural raw materials make it a point of reference in the market of the mattress. The X-STATIC covering, with silver fibre makes it naturally antibacterial. It is completely removable and can be washed. The essential oils are not oily substances, they are greatly volatile and they are extracted from many variety of plants. Essential oils are used in many therapies thanks to the beneficial actions that they may generate in the human body. The aromatherapy, one of the most popular complementary therapies in the world, is interpreted not only as a remedy purely symptomatic, but also as a real treatment.
